PROJECTS

- MODELLING OF ELECTRIC VEHICLE
The modeling of an electric vehicle, a pioneering endeavor where we meticulously arrange 72V batteries, a potent 1.5KW power motor, and integrate essential systems such as braking and transmission. Our focus is on creating a comprehensive model that not only demonstrates the technical intricacies of electric vehicle design but also underscores the environmental and economic advantages of embracing electric mobility. Through our simulation, we aim to illustrate how these components harmoniously interact to deliver a sustainable, efficient, and reliable mode of transportation for the future. Join us as we explore the fascinating world of electric vehicle modeling and its transformative impact on transportation innovation.
In summary, the modeling of an electric vehicle integrating a 72V battery, 1.5kW power motor, transmission system, and braking system demonstrates the feasibility and potential of sustainable transportation solutions. This project lays the foundation for further exploration and development of electric mobility technologies, emphasizing efficiency, reliability, and environmental consciousness. Through careful integration of key components, it paves the way for the advancement of electric vehicles as viable alternatives to traditional combustion-engine vehicles.
